Call to artists – we are currently looking for artists to include in our holiday shop. Drop of your work anytime, to be reviewed on Fridays – The Functional Art Holiday Shop
Show and Sale at PAA November 25 - Jan 7, 2012. Art versus craft; run a search for some great debates! Or here http://www.potters.org/subject108759.htm James Freeman.
So, yes it's beautiful: but what is it? Is it art? Is it craft? For this show, it needs a function – be creative!

It's a small painting to set on your desk to remind you of your favorite vacation spot
It's a sculpture of the children when we were young
It a piece of glass showing the animals we saw at the zoo

Once again, Elements Gallery, Peninsula Art Academy and The Log Cabin Gallery invite other artists to join them in supporting the Battered Women's Shelter by donating functional, decorative and wearable art (no used clothing or stuffed animals, please) as gifts for these families http://www.scmcbws.org/

Monthly Events:

FolkNite, October 9, 2011 - Usually meets the second Sunday of every month, 7:00 - 10:00 PM for a casual acoustic open jam with Greg Canda. We'll have the computer and projector hooked up so we can all be playing the same music (and singing the same lyrics). If you have something to share, bring it on a USB drive. Join the list here email Or, "just stop in" and share, bring your own food and drinks and enjoy the jam.

Fiber C.A.F.E. October 22 or 29, 10am, meets every forth (or fifth) Saturday. If you would like to share your current project or technique, or are looking for some advise with what you are working on, please join us! www.fibercafe.org

BluesNite – Open Jam at PAA – October 22, 2011, meets every fourth Saturday from 7ish -11pm (or later!) (and it's Music on the Porches with music all day throughout the village!) Walk-ins welcome, no charge. An informal open jam for all levels of musicians interested in playing and learning the blues. Bring your equipment (electric and/or acoustic instruments: guitars, harps, bass, etc) and join in, or sit back, bring your own food and drink, or something to share it you like, browse the gallery exhibits and enjoy the music. In collaboration with local musicians Matt Lerner, Stewart Lenox, and their friends from www.openmicmusic.org

Volunteers Needed for The Polar Express™Children's Holiday Train Excursion Brecksville, Ohio - This holiday program is based on Chris Van Allsburg's enchanting book The Polar Express™, a young boy's trip to the North Pole. Children, clad in pajamas, board the train in Akron or Independence and travel through Cuyahoga Valley National Park to hear the story of The Polar Express™, enjoy hot cocoa and cookies, and sing carols on their way to the North Pole. Through the train's windows, children see holiday characters, the silhouettes of elves hard at work, and Santa! Volunteers are needed to BE Santa, read the story, assist in creating a festive atmosphere in the car, serve cookies and hot cocoa, and more. Training will be provided. Be a part of this holiday tradition that creates lasting memories for children of northeast Ohio from Thursday, November 17 through Tuesday, December 20. For more information or to volunteer, contact Park Ranger Pamela Machuga at 330-657-1914 or pam_machuga@nps.gov.

Akron-area artist Arnold Tunstall's work captures the meaning of living in the Midwest. Viewers of his exhibit will certainly connect with the artist's roots. The exhibition entitled "Natural Elements" will open from 2 - 4 p.m. on Sunday, September 11 and run through Friday, November 4 at the John F. Seiberling Gallery. The gallery is located at 1403 West Hines Hill Road, within the Conservancy for Cuyahoga Valley National Park offices in Peninsula. The exhibit is free and open to the public. Tunstall sought a different path for his work to honor a personal hero John F. Seiberling. "I wanted to honor the legacy of Congressman Seiberling by looking at my past images of the natural world," Tunstall said. "He is probably the main reasons this beautiful park even exists." Contact 330-657-2909 or visit www.conservancyforcvnp.org. Weekend viewings can be set up by appointment.

Zygote is currently recruiting volunteers (interns) who would like to help out in the printshop-office for barter access to presses and facilities. Incentives like taking free classes, participating in group projects and being apart of a dynamic shop are benefits of this opportunity. We ask for 10 hours in exchange for shop access per month. We are able to work with all skill levels of people coming to the printmaking discipline. If interested, please contact: intern coordinator Elizabeth Emery at emeryspeaking@gmail.com
